Memo to Don:

I received the following message from Mike this morning. As I analyze it, the more Harmon or you or anyone else says in court or to any investigator, the more they will look like they are dreaming, scamming or involved in fraudulent security transactions, since no one will officially back up the stories.

The investors, Collin, and I are all taking the position that we stand on our right to say nothing to any one about the transaction, or our involvement. Do not doubt that. The securities people can not act without someone to complain and be witnesses.

No matter what Harmon tells the court. It will not be verified by anyone except maybe someone in Canada. Any investigator in the US will be turned away based on rights under the 5th. Amendment to the Constitution. The more he says the more it will look like a securities fraud.

Everyone involved will not admit to this deal even existing. Non-disclosure. They won't find out anything. The authorities will not get past first base. Everyone will have to wait. Harmon cannot assign anything to anyone, that is how he got into this mess to begin with. I'll get more info by Mon.
